600 Magni machines for Felbermayr

Austrian crane, aerial lift and telehandler rental group Felbermayr has ordered 600 telehandlers and aerial work platforms from Magni.

The order includes 120, 45ft and 53ft articulated boom lifts along with ES1523RTP and ES1823RTP heavy duty all-electric Rough Terrain scissor lifts with dual platform extensions along with DS1523RTP and DS1823RTP Stage V diesel versions. Other models include the 86ft EAB28RT articulated boom and 92ft ETBJ30RT telescopic. Both all electric Rough Terrains have lithium battery packs and non-marking tyres.

A further 28 narrow heavy duty scissor lifts in the order include the 66ft DS2223RTP, 86ft DS2825RTP and 99ft DS3225RTP - all with four wheel drive, levelling jacks and four wheel steer.

The order also includes 40 Magni 360 degree telehandlers ranging from the 4,000kg/18 metre RTH 4.18 to the 6,000kg/25 metre RTH 6.25. The mid-range 6,000kg/21 metre RTH6.21s are equipped with a 'Twin Energy' hybrid power pack, allowing all lifting related functions to be operated electrically for zero emissions inside or on sensitive job sites. Deliveries are due to be completed by the end of the first quarter 2023.

Robert Bauer, head of Felbermayr's aerial work platform and forklift rental division said: "Magni offers us a large product portfolio of rotating telescopic forklifts along with scissor, articulated and telescopic platforms, especially with regard to electric machines and scissor platforms in the special area of up to 32 metres. In addition, Magni offers us fast and reliable support."

Felbermayr Transport- und Hebetchnik began buying Magni telehandlers in 2019 with an order for 14 units up to the 35 metre model, and started adding Dingli-built, Magni branded aerial work platforms to its fleet early last year.

Established in 1942, Felbermayr employs 2,700 across 68 sites in 18 European countries. The company runs a large crane and aerial work platform rental fleet and offers heavy lift and transportation services.
